THREAT ASSESSMENTS

City of Wilsonville Police and Clackamas County met with Collins Aerospace and the local Clackamas Community College during October to discuss onsite safety and emergency response.

Threat assessments and safety plans are key steps when it comes to preventing and mitigating workplace or school violence. These efforts include bringing together staff (Human Resources, Legal, Risk Management) or students, management, and law enforcement to identify concerns, share perspectives, and develop an approach designed to quickly manage threatening situations. This includes policy and procedures, training, awareness, and protocol measures that help ensure the safety of those persons on the premises and those responding.

CONGRATULATIONS, DAN BLAIR

Wilsonville Police Officer, Deputy Dan Blair, applied for, and in October was selected as, a Field Training Officer (FTO) with the Clackamas County Sheriff's Office.

The FTO plays a vital role in the career of a law enforcement officer. They possess above-average patience, attention to detail, and excellent communication skills, as well as coach the new hire, demonstrate de-escalation and tactical skills, and provide critical feedback. Blair will be taking on this new responsibility in addition to his role as an Officer in the City of Wilsonville.

TRAFFIC DETAIL

On October 20, as part of a multi-agency traffic operation, Wilsonville traffic/motor deputies, Officers Josh Brown and Robby Nashif, teamed up with Canby, Happy Valley, Lake Oswego, and Milwaukie Police Departments, as well as the Clackamas County Sheriff's Office. They focused on traffic issues where the citizens of Wilsonville had voiced concerns.

The following resulted from that effort:

69 / total number of stops

63 / total number of citations issued

31 / total number of warnings issued

Citations and Warnings addressed speeding, use of cell phone or mobile devices, driving while suspended, not wearing a seatbelt or wearing one improperly, failure to obey a traffic control device, failure to use signals, and vehicle equipment matters.
