Wilsonville High School Annual Arts Dinner

This annual dinner features the various bands and orchestra, the choirs, the drama department and visual art displays. While this is a fundraiser for MAPS, it's really the best of what Wilsonville has to offer for an evening of arts and culture.

Christopher Shatola-Hardt

Christopher's entire life has been in the world of arts. He spent a professional career as a high school art teacher for which he has great acclaim. Personally he is an accomplished painter. His works have been displayed in many places throughout this city and others. Musically he writes, plays, and performs. He has a small group that has been performing around this area for decades.

He founded the Wilsonville Festival of Arts. Then along with Theonie Gilmore they kept it going for over twenty years. he has been a supporter to the Charbanneau Arts Festival during its lifetime. He has participated in a variety of ways in the development of many of the city art displays. He has attended a significant number of art focused meetings over the years hoping that the city would begin to participate and support the arts in more concrete ways.

For the Following Qualities:

Dance and Music

Traditional art specific to the cultural event

Additional Specification, if any:

Dia de los Muertos event at WV High School

There is a station to decorate sugar skulls, and visual art done by students on display. Dance groups perform, and several music groups do as well. The members of the dance/music groups are both students (K-12) and older community members. There was also some food available last year--perhaps other years as well.

This event is a wonderful celebration, but also educational for people that are less familiar with the Dia de los Muertos celebration. While the focus is placed on Latinx members of the community and Mexican traditions, it is a great opportunity to bring multiple cultural groups together.

I am most familiar with the Wilsonville-Boones Ferry Historical Society

I served as President for about 20 years when I worked at the Wilsonville Library. I am now Treasurer. We have the purpose to collect, research, educate others regarding Wilsonville's story. We have collected and now store the many Wilsonville artifacts in the attic of the Library - we do not have a common Center in which to display/archive them.

History of their town. How and why it came to be. Who is Boone and how did Wilsonville get it's name (sample questions).

Salmon Cycling Classic

The Salmon Cycling Classic was a community/regional bicycle event that provided a 60 and a 90 K ride and a community 25 K for families, etc. The event was followed by a catered cedar plank salmon feast for all riders. The State of Oregon has a history of a strong love for bicycling and the event created a local event for area riders and an opportunity to personally visit many locations with gorgeous vistas of the area. The name of the event was taken from the native importance of the Salmon to the area.

The bicycling 'culture' is very strong in area and in Wilsonville. This provided a local event for riders to participate in.

Additional Specification, if any:

Soul 'd Out

Soul'd Out is an acceppella group at Wilsonville High School that has repeatedly performed in national competitions. It performs mostly at the school for various performances and only occasionally in the community. The School also has a number of other instrumental and choral groups that could contribute much more to the community, as well as more public displays (other than just at the school) of the variety of art work produced by students. The only community presentation of student artwork is in a tent at the Festival of Arts in Town Center Park. The Spring Fest is also a huge cultural asset to the community with its student talent show and simply the community coming together for such an event.

First of all, it involves young people directly in art presentation in and to the community. The community experiences music and the presentation of visual arts directly in their own community.

Additional Specification, if any:

I-5 Connection

The I-5 Connection is a local community choral group organized specifically to tour the local retirement and nursing home facilities and sing for the residents. There are some 35-40 members strong, and they sing the songs of the era that the residents remember and love to sing along with. They have their own non-profit status, but are based out of the local community center.

The I-5 Connection brings the songs of the 40's, 50's and more to the nursing home residents and helps bring back many memories for them of past experiences, what it was like, and the happy moments they had in their youth. The chorus sings popular songs, movie and stage songs, and more. They help keep alive some of that old music and do so for the benefit of those shut-in nursing facilities.

Beauty and the Bridge Project

The Wilsonville Road underpass under I-5 - the walkways on both sides covered with ceramic tiles made by local school students depicting local flora and fauna of the area and local landmarks.

1) It's one of the few "tourist attractions" Wilsonville has. 2) It demonstrates much of the amazing background of our community - settler and natural. 3) The tiles were actually made by several hundred community school children. 4) It is the first artistic underpass allowed by ODOT in the area - if not the State. 5) It presences makes the intersection feel like "ours" rather than just another ODOT typical underpass.

The Willamette River.

The Willamette is central to our historical past and continues to play a huge role today. Put it to use. This could be done in conjunction with Butteville Store and the park.

While the Willamette is central to our history and heritage, it remains central to our way of life (including traffic jams) today. We can even invite the Sprit Mtn. Casino to operate a river-based casino.
