With the upcoming 2020 U.S census and the 2021 redistricting process, the lines that define political districts will be redrawn.

Redistricting can change the level of control political parties have over the legislature and Congress.

At this forum held by the League of Women Voters, voters can learn and ask questions about our current redistricting process, how it impacts elections here in Oregon, and what reform could look like.

Presented by the League of Women Voters.
